Genetic Tinkering Gives Hope, Fear to Men of World

EDITOR'S NOTE — Mankind is entering into the "genetic age" and the new skills acquired by scientists in altering growth and heredity will bring awesome responsibilities. The big question, "Who will decide what future man shall be?" is the subject of the following last in a series of four articles on genetic tinkering.

By RALPH DIGHTON

AP Science Writer

A magic phrase — genetic tinkering — has struck both hope and fear into the hearts of farthinking men over the world. The hope is that recent research in the submicroscopic world of the genes of the human cell will lead to a new era of freedom from defects and disease.

The fear is that this promised power over the form and even the thoughts of future man could fall into evil hands.

Genetic tinkering means altering the chemical makeup of genes — Molecules in the heart of living cells which carry the coded blueprints for future generations and also direct the development of every organism, including man.

Gene specialists — geneticists — are beginning to crack the genetic code. They have learned that it consists of a five-letter alphabet in which each letter stands for a vital chemical base, and that various combinations or "words" represent the raw material of life.

The chemical bases — adenine, guanine, cytosine, thymine and uracil — are known. Known also is the way in which they act with the help of enzymes to put together the amino acids which form proteins, the building blocks of living tissue.

Ahead lies a staggering task — duplicating this natural chemical process in the laboratory — but some believe it will be achieved in a generation or so. If scientists succeed, they expect to be able to alter the process, perhaps by substituting other chemicals, so that living cells produce not organisms like their ancestors but strange forms, the variety of which is limited only by the scientists' imagination.

Can they really do this? Will they want to?

Says Dr. Ray Owen, chairman of the biology division of the California Institute of Technology:

"Recent advances have placed the opportunity of controlling human heredity in the hands of those who may want to do so."

"There is an antipathy in genetic societies against genetic manipulation because of the dangers in determining what are good directions and what are bad directions to take. There are dangers in modifying people and dangers in turning out only identical people."

"I am convinced there are some decisions which should not be made by scientists alone."

Says Dr. Renato Dulbecco, geneticist at the Salk Institute for Biological Studies:

"Genetic research has reached the stage where we must begin collecting and processing with computers this tremendous amount of new information and, hopefully, begin picking committees to decide what man should be like in the future."

"It is foreseeable that science may be able to predetermine not only the physical characteristics but also the social attitudes of people. It may be possible eventually, through direction of cell growth, to choose not only how many fingers a man should have, for instance, but even how he will think — whether he will be war-loving or war-hating."

Dr. Melvin Calvin, director of the bio-organic group at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California said in a speech:

"We have before us now the requirement for a decision on a course of action probably more profound and far-reaching in its consequences than that which faced the statesmen of the world following the discovery of nuclear fission in 1939 and the creation of nuclear explosives only six years later."

"Both the immediate and long-range future of our country and mankind are dependent upon decisions on the way we use the fruits of this new knowledge."

These men are not alone in their thinking. Technical publications have carried similar counsel from scientists around the world.

Few doubt that genetic control will come. The major point of difference is over how far down the road of research it lies. Some think it may take a century or two.

One of the more optimistic, Dr. James Bonner, Cal Tech biologist, believes some forms of human genetic tinkering will be possible in a generation.

"My son will be able to have four hands — and he might need them to keep up with the pace of our changing times," says Bonner.

Eventually, he predicts, "The brain will stay at home, concentrating on thought, while the sense organs roam the world, seeing, talking, listening, playing. We will enjoy a new freedom — freedom from carrying our heads around."

Some scientists fear if this new world comes too soon, before men are prepared to use it wisely, it will bring with it great social and religious turmoil.

Genetic control poses the overwhelming question of who would decide not only how many new beings shall come into existence, but what they shall look like and how they shall think.

The possibility of genetic tinkering raises endless questions — social, political, economic and religious.

For instance, how will the churches, which believe the human form is divine, react to proposals to change that form?

And what might some future power-crazed dictator do if he held the key to the genes of a nation?

The answers lie hidden in the future. For the present, geneticists can only say:

It is time to start thinking.

Just How Loud Is Too Loud

EUCLID, Ohio (AP) — Municipal Court Judge William F. Burns threw out a case recently against a young motorcyclist charged with making excessive noise.

Judge Burns also threw out the city ordinance covering the offense, saying it did not specify how loud is too loud.

VITAL FARM

lead many cattlemen to liquidate herds — an action which would dump extra large supplies of cattle on markets in a short period.

Such cattle liquidation, with its consequent lower prices, would have a depressing effect on hog prices. This could be expected to lead farmers to lower hog production next year. This would be reflected in reduced supplies of pork — and higher prices for the vital product — in the second half of 1967 and possibly well into 1968.

The octopus and the squid are related to oysters and clams.

Ministers to Discuss Peace

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik arrived in the Malaysian capital today to seal the peace pact between the two Southeast Asian nations.

He was preceded a few minutes by Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak, who, in Jakarta Thursday, signed an agreement ending Indonesia's three-year-old war against Malaysia.

Infiltration Heavy, Says Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government says 102,500 North Vietnamese combat troops and support battalions have infiltrated into South Viet Nam.

These figures are far in excess of U.S. intelligence estimates, which put the maximum number of North Vietnamese in the south at about 54,000.

Most of the North Vietnamese came down the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos, intelligence sources say, but they add that at least three regiments from the 324B Division are known to have infiltrated through the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam, and there may have been others.

In a chart just released to the Saigon press, the Saigon government says 85,000 North Vietnamese infiltrated up to the end of 1965.

IN TRAINING

Airman Erskine was graduated from Prescott High School in 1965 and attended Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia, Ark.

Rockefeller to Open at Winthrop

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller will formally open his campaign for governor next Tuesday at the little town of Winthrop in Little River County.

That is the same opening site used by the Republican Party gubernatorial candidate in his unsuccessful 1964 bid to oust Gov. Orval Faubus.

"I don't know how Winthrop got its name," Rockefeller said. "But I think it's a good name."

Winthrop is 24 miles south of De Queen.

Traveling with Rockefeller at the event will be his wife and other Republican candidates, including Maurice (Footsie) Britt for lieutenant governor, Jerry Thomasson for attorney general, John Paul Hammerschmidt for 3rd District Congress and Lynn Lowe for 4th District Congress.

Indians Seeking Agreement Veto

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — The Quechan Indian tribe is asking President Johnson to veto the Arizona-California boundary agreement which Congress has approved. They claim it would take away 2,000 acres of land to which they lay claim.

A spokesman for the tribe said a resolution sent to the White House represents the tribe's "last stand" against the agreement.

THANKS —

To my many friends and supporters in Hempstead County for their vote and influence in the Democratic Primary Run -Off Aug. 9th., and to everyone who has given me their cooperation while serving as your county judge. I am proud of the accomplishments we have made, and hope for the continued progress of our County in the future.

Sincerely,

Why do some people traditionally choose August to buy their new Chevrolet?

Malibu Sport Coupe and Malibu 4-Door Station Wagon. Both with 8 standard safety features.

To save money and, quite often, lots of it.

They know that prices will never be better at their Chevrolet dealer's than they are in August. They know their present cars will never be worth more in trade than they are right now.

And they know a good value when they see one, like a Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe—the most popular model of America's most popular mid-size car. It comes with thick foam-cushioned seats, deep-twist carpeting, vinyl up one door and down the other, padded instrument panel and sun visors for added safety. And all those Body by Fisher niceties sit solidly over some of the surest handling features a car can have: Ball-Race steering. Full Coil suspension. Wide-stance wheel design for steady cornering.

So you see, "Chevrolet in August" makes a lot of sense. Fine cars. Exceptionally good buys and all those beautiful driving days left. Real Malibu weather. Act, my friend.

SOME KIND OF NUT

Dear Helen: Recently I invited a good friend to an "adults only" civic affair, hoping she would join. I was never so embarrassed!

One of the members of long-standing must have been bored, because she wadded up pieces of paper and tossed them from a distance of about five feet into the upturned brim of my friend's hat. This was while the speech was going on.

Our organization wanted new members but this is a poor way to get them. My friend will never join now.

I know there's always one in every group. What should be done with her? — MEMBER

Dear Member: Warn her the "adults only" rule goes for actions too. — H.

Dear Helen: This is for "Happy" who says man is not monogamous and lets her wander freely just so there is no scandal. If "Sappy" can't put enough spice and variety in his life to keep him home, then she deserves to lose him. But how is she going to shut her eyes when a sweet young thing slaps a paternity suit on her husband? — TRULY HAPPY

Dear Happy: ... She'll then change her signature to "Yappy." — H.

Dear Helen: I have been going with this gentleman for almost a year and from the day I met him he has objected to the use of the modern hair spray. My hair is baby fine, and I must use spray to hold it in place.

Would you please print in your column just how many women in the country use hair spray? He is over 50 and says this is his first experience with it. — ABOUT TO SHAVE MY HEAD

Dear ATSMH: Dunno how many women use hair spray, but probably at least one in 10. (And I'll bet the hair spray people howl at that estimate!)

However, if YOUR man is against it hat other gals do won't budge him. Why not let him see how un-groomed you look with flyaway hair, and perhaps you can work out a compromise with one of the less stiffening sprays. — H.

Dear Helen: I have been married ten years to the same woman. What I want to know is, is she married to me?

She's broken up at least three couples, going after the man. She refuses to quit her job although I make plenty to take care ### of her and our daughter.

She won't let our girl go to church as we are of different religions. She says she intends to stay with her parents' religion until they die, as she's certain she can get anything she wants from them without having to pay it back, as long as she doesn't attend another church.

She always has some guy bringing her home from work. I work out of town, so I don't know how long he stays. She won't move to where I work. I will be thankful for any help you can give me, Helen — V.C.

Dear V: You can help yourself with a big fat ultimatum. Tell her she will either work full-time at being a wife and mother, or the next home she breaks up will be her own. — H.

Pirates Hike Lead in Win Over Mets

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Stargell didn't have to pull with the New York Mets until he stopped trying to.

The slugging Pittsburgh Pirates left fielder, who bats left-handed, tried to pull the ball the first time he faced New York southpaw Rob Garman Thursday night. He grounded out both times.

Then in the ninth inning, after Roberto Clemente had singled in a run to tie the game 3-3, Stargell came up against Garman again.

"Harry Walker (Pittsburgh manager) called me back from the plate and told me to do what I was practicing—hitting to the opposite field against left-handers," he said. "I just tried to hit the ball."

Not trying to pull it, Stargell did just that, whacking Garman's first pitch into the right field stands for his 26th homer and a 7-5 victory, which increased the Pirates' National League lead to two games over the San Francisco.

Although Stargell got pleasantly mixed up in what he was trying to do, things went according to plan for Clemente.

With Marty Alou on second and a count of three balls and no strikes, Clemente said he purposely fouled off two bad pitches before singling home the tying run.

"I didn't want to walk," he said. "I wanted to get it set up for Willie."

In the only other National League game, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 5-1 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Houston 9-8 in 11 innings in the first game of a doubleheader and Houston was leading 8-5 in the seventh inning of the nightcap when it was suspended.

Baltimore edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 11 innings, the Chicago White Sox trimmed Kansas City 10-9, Boston walked Cleveland 13-3 and Minnesota defeated California 4-3 in the only American League action.

The Pirates' victory ruined the National League debut of Ralph Terry, acquired by the Mets from Kansas City. The veteran right-hander started and went 5 1/2 innings, giving up five hits and three runs, and would have been the winner if the Mets could have held the lead, which Ken Boyer helped build with four hits.

Pitcher Al Jackson helped his own cause by tripling home the tie-breaking run in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. Richie Allen of the Phillies had tied it 1-1 with his 26th homer in the top of the seventh, then Jackson put the Cards in front to stay in the bottom of the inning.

Randy Hundley hit a single, double, triple and homer and Lee Thomas' pinch hit single drove in the winning run for the Cubs. The second game at Chicago was called at 5:30 p.m., EDT, to assure both teams of catching flights for the West Coast. It will be completed when the Cubs play in Houston Aug. 26.

ROOMMATES John Pennel and Bob Seagraves keep trading world records in the pole vault. It's Pennel's turn now and Seagraves congratulates him. The two share an apartment in Glendale, Calif.

Would Stimulate Sports Interest

MUNFORDVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two former college athletes set out from Louisville for the Tennessee line, 140 miles away, to stimulate interest in distance running.

They ran 65 miles before giving up. One injured his foot and the other sprained three ligaments.

Said Stan Cottrell, one of the runners: "We're heartsick, but we're going to try again next year."

Many Tied for Lead in Thunderbird

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — If Tommy Bolt keeps this up they'll be calling the one-time bad boy of the links "Thunderbird" instead of "Thunder" Bolt.

"I still get just as mad as ever, but I control it better," the 48-year-old veteran from Sarasota, Fla., said Thursday after firing a three-under-par 69 to share the first-round lead in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic with eight others.

The touring pros put on one of the wildest par-smashing exhibitions since the nine-way first-round tie at the 1959 PGA.

No less than 26 golfers bettered par and 15 others equaled it over the 7,055-yard, par 72 Upper Montclair Country Club course despite the tricky greens and a crosswind that sent scores soaring on the back nine. The burned-out rough helped.

Sharing the lead with Bolt were Gary Player of South Africa, Australians Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin, Canada's George Knudson, and four touring pros—Tom Weiskopf, Rod Funseth, Dudley Wysong and Mason Rudolph.

One stroke back at 70 were U.S. Open champ Bill Casper, the favorite here; Phil Rodgers and Vince Sullivan, a local boy from Metuchen, N.J.

The club-throwing outbursts that earned Bolt the nickname of "terrible tempered Tommy" and cost him in victories and money despite one of the sweetest swings in the game are a thing of the past.

"They play for so much money now that you have to control yourself just to get a piece of it," he said. "Besides, the PGA charges you a $100 for throwing a club in the air."

Defending Champs Win in Tourney

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Defending champion Blytheville scored on a tenth-inning single to edge West Memphis 5-4 in the American Legion state baseball tournament here Thursday night.

Bruce Bateman's single to center brought in Lee Forrester with the winning run to boost Blytheville's season mark to 42-7.

Blytheville meets Little Rock tonight.

In other games Thursday, Little Rock's Butch Howard singled in a run in the ninth inning to give his team a 5-4 decision over North Little Rock. Eric Smith trounced Batesville 14-2 and Bryant topped Pine Bluff 8-1.

Batesville and Pine Bluff were eliminated.

Bryant meets Fort Smith and North Little Rock faces West Memphis in other games today, with the losers being knocked out of the tournament.

Single by Powell Wins for Orioles

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell stands 6-foot-4 and weighs 235 pounds. He's not what you'd call fast.

But he turned a routine single into a pretty funny romp around the bases Thursday night in Baltimore's 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees.

A wet ball and some wetter puddles in the Yankee Stadium outfield made it easy.

The Orioles had jumped on Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre for three runs in the first inning after the start of the game was delayed an hour by rain. Brooks Robinson was on first base with two out in the third when the fun started.

Powell singled to left and Robinson headed for third. "I was going to stop there," Robinson said later. "Then I saw Hector Lopez miss the ball, so I kept going."

When Lopez finally fished the ball out of the puddles in left field and relayed it home, the wet ball squirted past catcher Jake Gibbs. Powell, troubled by a muscle spasm in his right leg, was still at first when Stottlemyre, backing up the play, went after the loose ball.

The linescore on the play reads: Two runs, one hit, three errors.

"I wasn't going to go anywhere," said Powell. "Then I saw the ball get away, so I said, 'what the heck.' I slid into second and the spasm came back again."

Stottlemyre, with plenty of time to catch Powell, threw high, the wet ball sailing into swampy center field. There Tom Tresh fought a losing battle with the moisture while Powell lumbered around third and toward the plate.

"I don't know how I got home," the strapping slugger said. "I just struggled the rest of the way."

"It looked like a track meet for awhile," laughed Robinson. Powell left the game after scoring and his replacement, Sam Bowens, delivered the 11th inning single that scored Luis Aparicio with the winning run for the Orioles.

Powell said he would have been able to continue if he had time to work out the spasm. "It hurts a bit, but I'll be all right," he said.

In other American League action, Chicago won its seventh straight, whipping Kansas City 10-9, Boston battered Cleveland 13-3 and Minnesota trimmed California 4-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh topped New York 7-5, St. Louis downed Philadelphia 5-1 and Chicago nipped Houston 9-8 in 11 innings in the first game of a doubleheader. The Astros led 8-5 after seven innings when the second game was suspended.

Frank Robinson, who saved a game with a leaping catch in right field the last time the Orioles played in New York, did it again—this time in left.

He crashed into the barrier backhanding Clete Boyer's drive with one out in the 11th. That was the Yankees' last threat.

The streaking White Sox held off Kansas City for their 20th victory in 28 games since the All Star break.

Don Buford drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double and John Romano hit his 13th homer of the season for Chicago's big hits. Buford also swiped home on the front end of a double steal.

Tony Conigliaro led the Red Sox' assault against Cleveland, driving in five runs with two singles, a double and his 21st homer. He scored four times. George Scott also hit a two-run homer for Boston.

Harmon Killebrew, who had homered earlier, drove pinch runner Bob Allison home with the winning run in the ninth inning as Minnesota topped California.

The Twins' victory over the Angels and the White Sox' triumph against Kansas City left Minnesota, California and Chicago tied for fourth place in the American League.

Final Rites for Charlie Dresen

DETROIT (AP) — Some 200 mourners came to St. Aloysius Roman Catholic Church Thursday as Detroit bid farewell to Charlie Dresen.

Dresen, former Tiger manager, 67, died Wednesday at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital.

James Campbell, general manager of the American League club, accompanied Dresen's body to Los Angeles where a final service and burial will be held Saturday. Campbell will be one of six honorary pallbearers.

Way Cleared for Terrell, Clay Fight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The way has been cleared — again — for an Ernie Terrell-Cassius Clay heavyweight championship fight. But such questions as when and if and where — emphasis on "where" — are still very much up in the air.

"We're interested in talking business with Terrell now that he's eligible to fight in New York," said Madison Square Garden matchmaker Harry Markson after the New York Athletic Commission had granted Terrell a license to fight in New York.

"We could settle up all this talk about who's champion," Clay said in Chicago. "That would be nice."

Clay, generally recognized as the world champion, and Terrell, who holds the World Boxing Association version of the title, were scheduled to fight last March. But it never came off and the arrangements reached farical proportions before it was all over.

The bout had been set for Madison Square Garden. But Terrell was denied a license because of his alleged connections with Bernie Glickman, an associate of underworld characters Blinky Palermo and Frankie Carbo. The New York commission said Glickman was Terrell's manager, but Ernie denied it.

So the fight was moved to Chicago. The Illinois Athletic Commission turned it down because of Clay's remarks about his draft status, Viet Nam and such. Louisville and Pittsburgh turned it down. Verdun, Que., Huron, S.D., and Manchester, N.H., made bids for it before the site was finally picked — Toronto.

But Terrell pulled out of that fight because he couldn't get the guarantees he wanted. Clay vowed on fighting George Chuvalo of Canada. He won it, of course, and Terrell eventually fought and beat Doug Jones in Houston.

Now, it could be on again — but well in the future.

"We would be very interested in talking about a Clay-Terrell fight," Markson said Thursday, "but Clay has other commitments right now."

Clay, who knocked out Brian London in London last Saturday, is scheduled for a title defense against German champion Karl Mildenberger in Frankfurt Sept. 10.

The New York Athletic Commission, under new chairman Ed Dooley, gave unanimous approval to Terrell's license, which names George A. Hamid as his manager. Hamid is part owner of the new Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

"The New York commission apparently satisfied itself that Terrell has dissociated himself with Glickman," said Bob Turley of the California Athletic Commission. He pointed out that New York originally had denied Terrell the license because of disclosures made by the California group concerning his connections with Glickman.

Peanut Butter Kid Wants to Lose the Tag

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Al Geiberger, golf's Peanut Butter Kid, wishes the producers would call off the dogs—he has the stuff running out his ears.

"One company sent me my weight in peanut butter," the beanpole PGA champion from Carlton Oaks, Calif., said today. "Another sent me a dozen cases. At least six companies have given us supplies to last for years."

"We have it stored in the kitchen, in the basement and even in the bathroom. If it doesn't stop, we may have to desert the house and turn it over to peanut butter."

The 6-foot, 2 1/2-inch pro became the darling of the peanut industry when he won the PGA championship at Akron last month while munching peanut butter and jelly sandwiches between swings.

One producer wanted to make him "Peanut Butter Man of the Month." Another asked him to author an "I Love Peanut Butter Cookbook." Still another suggested he combine golf tips with peanut butter recipes. "I've already signed with a big peanut butter manufacturer," said Geiberger, a contender in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic here, "I don't know what I'll do with the stuff from the other makers, maybe give it to orphanages."

Geiberger said the sandwich habit began in the 1965 PGA at Laurel Valley, Pa.

"The first two rounds, I was paired with Arnold Palmer, playing on his home course," he said. "My wife, Judy, and I knew thousands would be following the match and we wouldn't get near the refreshment stand. So Judy packed a cold lunch of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches for us and my daughter, Lee Ann."

"It wasn't until later after I won the American Classic at Akron that anybody knew it. In the press interview, I was asked if I got tired. I said, 'No, because I carried a sandwich.'

Thinks Negro Educators Out of Stream
By RAYMOND P. GIRARD
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — About 150 students from some of the country's best graduate schools are taking part in a summer program aimed at bringing small, Southern Negro colleges into America's mainstream of education.
These young men and women, mostly future college teachers, are taking part in the Southern Teaching Program (STP), a movement begun two years ago at Yale.
At that time a group of Yale Law School students decided to assist small, predominantly Negro colleges acquire first-rate faculties.
"Many Southern Negro colleges are so far out of the main stream they don't know how to recruit good teachers," says Fred Schulze, the program's executive director.
Began on a volunteer basis with graduate students accepting as little as $50 for a summer's work, the program has evolved into a combination placement service for graduate students who want to teach and a clearinghouse of qualified teachers for small, less privileged schools.
Now, instead of token salaries, teachers placed by STP are paid the same as any teacher with a similar background.
Schulze said that although the program had more teachers, the number of colleges being assisted had declined.
He says this was because more schools knew how to recruit qualified teachers.
"One of the many values of the program," said Schulze, "is that it is bringing Negro colleges into the regular academic life. Our people keep them in touch with what is happening at the larger Northern schools."
News of the program and its goals has spread, mainly by word of mouth, to graduate schools throughout the country.
"The result," said Schulze, "is that now graduate students from better colleges and universities are thinking about eventually teaching full time at schools which would ordinarily be overlooked."
Schulze, 27, first became interested in the program after spending a year teaching Russian at Bishop College, a small, Negro Baptist school in Dallas.
Schulze, a native of Philadelphia, was on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. He was assigned to Bishop after receiving his master's degree from Columbia University.
"When I returned home from Dallas, I received a call from New Haven, and it was suggested that I work full time for the STP, which was, at that time, being organized on a permanent basis," says Schulze.
Until then the program had no full time help. The original handful of Yale students had grown to 53 graduate and professional-school students from several schools. They were teaching at 13 Southern institutions.
With Schulze spending most of his time on the program, it has become a professionally run, endowed organization.
In 1965 it grew to 145 teachers from more than a dozen schools teaching in 27 colleges.
The program receives free office space and use of office machines at Yale and money for operational expenses from the Carnegie Corp., the Fund for the Advancement of Education and the New World Foundation.
During summer sessions the STP instructors help the host colleges by freeing the regular faculty to attend summer institutes, work toward advance degrees, or teach smaller classes.
With the summer session over, some STP workers stay on as regular faculty members.
With almost no exceptions, Schulze says, the responses to the STP instructors have been enthusiastic.

Before a graduate student is assigned to a school, he fills out a questionnaire, telling the STP about his background, personality and beliefs, to be used in placing him.
"We try to match the teacher with the school," says Schulze. "You can imagine the effect an enthusiastic young atheist would have on a fundamentalist Baptist campus."
"Although the movement sprang from the civil rights feelings of 1964, we are trying to expand the movement to include all small colleges which have been neglected. It just so happens that most of these colleges are in the South."
Schulze says STP hopes that eventually all colleges will be brought into the educational mainstream. He finds it encouraging that the number of colleges needing the assistance of STP is declining.
"With any luck at all," he says, "we'll eventually go out of business."
SOME ROCK this turned out to be. What looked like a large rock on land being cleared for a General Motors proving ground at Milford, Mich., turned out to be merely the exposed portion of a huge glacial boulder. It took two bulldozers to move the 40-ton, 35-foot circumference boulder from the building site.

Why Visit Britain? It's 'Quaint'
By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
LONDON — (NEA) — No one is more amazed than the average Londoner that his city has ousted Paris and Rome as the favorite stopover of American tourists in Europe.
London, which Americans once thought of as Squaresville, is now very much with it, particularly as far as young Americans are concerned. They see it as the pacesetter for youthful fashions and pop music.
But the natives, who dream of holidays on sun-drenched beaches, are astonished that foreigners even want to set foot in the British Isles, where summer is one long succession of cold, wet days.
Despite the climate and the sterling crisis, the foreigners keep coming. This year 2,700,000 foreign visitors will have flocked to Britain, marking a 16 per cent increase on the number last year.
In fact, tourism is now Britain's biggest single dollar earner, ranking fourth among its export industries. If the present trend continues, four million visitors can be expected here in 1970 and one million of them will be American.
Americans come here not in search of sun or sand—they can get these on the Costa Brava in Spain. Nor do they want to inspect new housing projects, nuclear reactors or postwar shopping centers. "We have plenty of these at home," explains a matron from Dallas, whose spectacle frames are inset with real diamonds.
No, what the Americans are after is "quaintness," according to the British Travel Association. They are in search of Cornish fishing villages, ancient cathedrals, the ivy-covered towers of Oxford University, Highlanders' crofts, and—yes—the Beefeater guards in their scarlet tunics.
The average American spends $300 during his average 13-day stay in Britain. London heads his sightseeing itinerary, followed by Stratford-on-Avon (sometimes known as Bardville), Edinburgh, Windsor and Oxford, in that order.
This year many Americans are visiting Runnymede to see the memorial dedicated to the late President Kennedy. They are also calling at Blenheim Palace where, to quote the guide, "You see the actual bedroom in which that great Anglo-American, Sir Winston Churchill, was born."
But what the Americans like most during their stay here are the British people, those "clean-limbed, clear-skinned people with the muscular co-ordination of a nation of athletes," to quote a well-known American guidebook.
As for the British, they are startled by the new trend in American tourism—package tours for those who are single-minded in their pursuit of happiness.
Londoners hardly know what to make of the 57 Americans who arrived here recently on the first lap of a 6-city, 22-day dancing tour of Europe. At 10 a.m., instead of watching the Changing of the Guard, these Americans were doing the slow-quick-slow in a London ballroom.
They went on to waltz in Berlin, to rumba in Amsterdam, and, no doubt, to do the fox trot in Copenhagen, Dusseldorf and Paris.
Earlier, Britain was invaded by 220 supersalesmen of the Simplex Time Recorder company of Gardner, Mass., who had been attending a sort of floating sales conference aboard the Queen Elizabeth. The Simplex men hit the high spots of England and Scotland, including a stopover in Sherwood Forest where they were made honorary sheriffs of Nottingham.
It was a toss-up whether Britons were more impressed by the drum and bugle corps which accompanied them, or by the gold lame tuxedo coats which some of them wore on more formal occasions.

A DIFFERENT VIEW of the world is Argentine painter Julio Lepare's claim for the distorting spectacles he designed himself. He showed off the weird eyegear at the Venice, Italy, Biennale Art Show where he won the $3,200 first prize in the worldwide artists' competition.

SOME ROCK this turned out to be. What looked like a large rock on land being cleared for a General Motors proving ground at Milford, Mich., turned out to be merely the exposed portion of a huge glacial boulder. It took two bulldozers to move the 40-ton, 35-foot circumference boulder from the building site.

ACRES OF BUSHES greet the tourist almost as soon as he gets off the plane.

"I sure dread to go home. I paused for a minute at a perfume counter and got sprayed with Essence of Passion Flower!"

"I was going to ask you for an advance on my allowance, but since it's your birthday I'll wait till tomorrow!"

THE BORN LOSER

The cakewalk is a dance of American Negro origin. The couples form a square with the men on the inside and, stepping high to a lively tune, walk in this square formation. Couples are eliminated one by one by judges until the last one. The winning couple, in slavery days, was presented with a highly decorated cake as first prize.

"Well, I found out Wilmot is an ardent conservationist. He's especially interested in conserving his allowance!"

There is a great advantage in holding the deuce of a suit. When you play it your partner is sure that it is your lowest card.

South's two no-trump rebid is standard as is North's raise to game. West longest suit is spades and if he opens it South will have no trouble bringing in his contract. South will play low from dummy, if East plays his queen of spades South will win with the ace and make five odd since the jack of spades will become an extra entry to dummy. If East makes the brilliant play of the eight South will get two spade tricks instead of one and will collect five clubs, one diamond and one heart besides.

West should open the jack of hearts. The bidding indicates that he is likely to find his partner with at least four hearts and the jack-ten-eight lead is attractive.

If West opens the jack of hearts, South should play low from dummy. The queen will be good later on had the lead been from king-jack-ten. East should signal with the six spot and South will win with the ace.

At trick two South will lead a diamond toward dummy and West will play his deuce. East will immediately be alerted to the fact that West holds an odd number of diamonds. With two diamonds or four West would start an echo with a high diamond. Later, when South plays a second diamond, East will win that lead with the ace. South will be shut out of dummy forever and, assuming the defenders don't get careless with their spot cards, South will be held to a total of eight tricks.

ISRAEL'S PARLIAMENT, the Knesset, will soon be meeting in this modern structure going up in Jerusalem. Exterior decoration of the completed building will feature mosaics executed under the personal direction of artist Marc Chagall. Inauguration is scheduled for August with the Knesset to begin regular sessions in it with the start of the winter parliamentary term in October.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation attributes much of the crime upsurge of recent years to a continuing sharp rise in property crimes. However, crimes in each of the violent categories—murder, assault, robbery and forcible rape—also have increased steadily. The number of crimes per unit of population is highest in the large cities and in areas of fast population growth.

DINNER OUT at a Rome restaurant was a family affair for Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. ## Vital Farm Products Costing More

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housewives now paying higher prices for meat and milk may be paying even more for those vital farm products a year from now.

This prospect stems from a variety of facts: the sharply declining supply of livestock feed grains, the drought that has dried up thousands of acres of pastures around the nation, and the expected smaller crop of hay this year.

From the American consumer's standpoint, the disappearance of a surplus on feeds — corn, barley, sorghum grains and oats — has much darker aspects than the big decline in wheat stocks this year.

The wheat situation has attracted wider attention but in the long run the disappearance of feed grain surpluses could have much more serious repercussions on food supplies and prices.

A shortened supply of wheat will not be felt at home because any rationing of supplies will be limited to foreign areas, particularly those receiving U.S. food aid.

But reduced supplies of corn and other grains would have greatest impact in the United States — where the great bulk of them are consumed. Feed grains are the basic raw materials for producing beef, pork, milk, poultry and eggs.

This reduction in feed grain supplies hits livestock producers through increased prices — that is, costs of producing beef cattle, hogs, milk and poultry. To the degree these costs are not offset by corresponding increases in livestock, milk and poultry prices, farmers tend to cut back on production.

Throughout the course from the first grade to the high school diploma, students are taught to read and compose English, but very few are instructed in how to hold a pen, much less how to write with it. The neglect of penmanship is an inconsistency that is reflected in labored illegibility at the college and graduate level. — Columbia (S.C.)

Communist Spokesman Mistaken

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party's chief spokesmen apparently goofed in an account of Mao Tse-tung making his first appearance before the Peking people since Oct. 1.

Radio Peking reported that the 72-year-old Communist party chairman met students, peasants and workers Wednesday night at the headquarters of the party Central Committee in Peking and shook hands vigorously with the general public for half an hour.

Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital reported that the party paper, the Peking People's Daily, published a relatively unadorned account but the papers were called back and later came out again with the story deleted.

At 3:45 a.m. today, the news agency and Peking radio broadcast glowing stories of Mao's reception by nearly delirious crowds.

It was assumed in Tokyo that the first report had not been as complimentary as it should have been.

Showers Are General in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heavy showers and thunderstorms covered most of Arkansas today, pouring rain on some areas at a rate of one-quarter to one-half inch an hour.

The precipitation, welcomed by drought-stricken Arkansas farmers, measured an inch or more at such points as Texarkana, Little Rock, Arkadelphia, Hope, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs and Judsonia during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast the rain to continue tonight, tapering off Saturday. The outlook was for mild temperatures, in the 80s during the day and in the upper 60s at night.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 67 at Calico Rock to 72 at Fort Smith.

Cities reporting 24-hour rain measurements of more than two inches included Texarkana, 2.65, Hope 2.32, and Pine Bluff 2.13. Other amounts were Arkadelphia 1.62, Hot Springs 1.46, Little Rock 1.26, Judsonia 1.19, Harrison .58, Fayetteville .57, Fort Smith .42, Memphis .34 and Walnut Ridge .24.

Coffee Break Helped Employe Solve Time Killing Problem

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It used to be that the American office employe who came to work late had no way to kill time on the job before leaving early for lunch.

Then someone invented the morning coffee break, and the problem was solved.

No history of U.S. business and how it grew will be complete without a chapter on coffee breaks.

Coffee breaks now often are held in company-sponsored lunchrooms, and here are some figures in the cast of characters you may be familiar with in your own office:

Genial George — No one gets more pleasure out of the morning coffee break than the office toper. If you take a sip from his paper cup of cheer, you'll be cheered too. It has four big ounces of bourbon in it.

The Round Table — It's patronized by the fat stenographers. They gorge themselves on doughnuts, crullers and pastry so that they can go shopping during the lunch hour instead of wasting it by eating on their own time.

Suspicious Sid — He believes the management is trying to get rid of the staff by serving poisoned coffee, so he brings his own in a Thermos bottle.

Traitor Tom — He drinks his coffee alone in sullen silence. No one wants to sit with him because all are convinced he is a spy and gets paid extra by the front office for relaying disloyal gossips he overhears in the lunchroom.

North Korea Reds Breaks With China

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea today declared its independence within the world Communist movement, dramatically breaking with its old pro-Peking line.

"There can be no superior party or inferior party nor a party that gives guidance and a party that receives guidance," said the official party newspaper Rodong Shinmun.

"One country of the party cannot serve as the center of the world revolution or the leading party."

The statement also disclosed a purge of party members guilty of "flunkeyism" — a slavish following of the theories of unnamed big Communist powers.

It attacked both Chinese and Soviet communism, but the heaviest criticism fell on the Chinese, who regard themselves as the only true defenders of the Communist faith.

The statement signified an almost total rupture in Pyongyang's ideological ties to Peking, which have become progressively weaker in recent months.

"Each Communist or workers' party can and must shape its policy independently," Rodong Shinmun said.

It added, "Revolution can neither be exported nor imported. The revolution in each country, of course, is fulfilled in conjunction with the world revolution and is influenced by international factors. Important as outside support is, it plays only a secondary role."

Chinese influence on the North Koreans reached a high point with the participation of one million Chinese "volunteers" in the Korean War in the early 1950s.

But relations began to cool after Peking and Moscow became involved in a bitter struggle to be dominant in the Communist world and the Chinese branded the Soviets as traitors to the Communist movement.

Orbiter Is Rolled Into Right Course

By ROBERT COOKE

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — After a series of rolls, twists and a burst of power, America's shuttlebug Lunar Orbiter is reported on course today for an egg-shaped orbit around the moon.

The 850-pound craft — which resembles an open flower with its solar panels extended — obeyed commands Thursday to fire its main rocket engine and correct its course to the moon, spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

If everything goes as planned, Lunar Orbiter will go into orbit around the moon Sunday after its thrust rocket is fired again to slow it down 550 miles from the moon.

Orbiter's goal is to take 352 quality pictures of the moon, helping select a spot where Apollo astronauts may land before 1970.

The main photographic target is a 3,000-mile strip along the moon's equator in which nine areas have been picked as possible Apollo landing sites.

One of the sites is where a Surveyor I spacecraft settled gently on the moon in the dry Sea of Storms. Lunar Orbiter will try to photograph Surveyor. Orbiter also carried devices to measure radiation near the moon and detect micrometeorites.

The first planned orbit ranges from 120 miles to 1,150 miles above the moon. This is to be changed a few days later, bringing the spacecraft down to 28 miles above the target area.

The stubby craft was boosted toward the moon Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., aboard an Atlas-Agena rocket combination.

At a point 49 minutes after launch, the craft's sun sensor picked up the sun properly, but Orbiter's other light sensor — designed to pick up the bright star Canopus — did not do its job.

Negroes Call Politicians to Join Them

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negro political leaders in Chicago have been urged to join the protests for open housing, including a march planned today into the racially sensitive Bogan area on the city's Southwest Side.

The call for more participation by Negro aldermen, committeemen and legislators and for the march — which had been postponed earlier in the week — came from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in telegrams sent from Jackson, Miss., where he is ill with a virus.

The Rev. James Bevel, one of King's aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told a Chicago rally Thursday night that at least 500 persons would be in the march today. And he said it would be held whether police protection was available or not.

The protests for open housing launched by King drew a rebuke Thursday from Chicago Police Supt. O.W. Wilson. In an interview, he said the tactics have aroused hatred among some whites "which are to the disadvantage of the Negro population."

Rather than helping the Negroes, Wilson said, the SCLC drive has hampered the city in dealing with the problems.

Meanwhile, 100 white youths marched around a North Side Chicago police station Thursday night protesting alleged police brutality while a crowd of more than 500 persons watched.

The group, composed mostly of youthful Southern migrants, was organized by the "Uptown Goodfellows," whose spokesman said, "This is the first time hillbillies have decided to let their power be felt. Most people don't understand we are kicked around as bad as Negroes and Puerto Ricans by police."

In Detroit, beefed-up police patrols watched a racially mixed East Side neighborhood where rock and fire-bomb throwing had erupted for three straight nights.

Ten Negroes were arrested Thursday night and a fire bomb was thrown into a beer and wine store, causing minor damage. But there were no other attempts to resume the violence which hit the area the previous two nights.

Tensions also ran high in the East Flatbush section of Brooklyn after a white mob's rush on a Negro home was repulsed with shots which wounded two white youths. Police posted guards on the home of the Negro.

BULLETINS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A man sought in a slaying early today went on a gun rampage shortly after noon, shooting two men and two women at a gun club.

The extent of their injuries was not known at once.

In an ensuing gun duel with police officers he was himself shot and pronounced dead on arrival at a New Haven hospital. Police identified him as Joseph Davis, a Negro.

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee approved today a bill to order the 35,000 striking mechanics back to their jobs on five grounded airlines.

The bill, approved 17 to 13, is essentially the same as one previously passed by the Senate. The first 30-day resumption of work would be by congressional mandate and procedures would be provided by which the President could order the men to remain on their jobs as much as 15 days more.

Amendments that would have required presidential initiative from the start were defeated.

Declares Tactics of Dr. King Created Hatred for Negroes

By WILLIAM J. DILL

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King's civil rights tactics have aroused hatred among some Chicago white residents and have hampered the Negro's progress, Police Supt. O. W. Wilson says.

"Inadvertently, he (King) has created hatreds which are to the disadvantage of the Negro population," Wilson said in an interview Thursday, and added: "I can't see how King has helped the drive for civil rights in Chicago. To the extent he has stirred up hatreds he has hampered it."

Wilson's comments were promptly contested by King's aides, who said that hatreds had been brought to the surface rather than created.

"The Negro population was somewhat satisfied with the progress being made in solving problems before King came to town," Wilson said, and added: "The solution to these problems will not be enhanced by stirring up hatreds."

"The orderly process of government is better than demonstrating. The problems are not resolved at the snap of a finger. I think Chicago had taken great strides in dealing with the problems long before King came to Chicago."

Plans to scatter low-income families through well-to-do neighborhoods creates an uproar in Stamford, Conn.

Planes Blast Communist's Major Port

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force and Navy fighters blasted targets within 14 miles of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port, while ground forces in the south made sharp contacts Thursday with the Communists in the Central Highlands and near the demilitarized zone.

An F8 Crusader jet from the 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany became the 11th American plane lost over the Communist North this week, equal to any seven-day period of the war.

The pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Tonkin, swam two miles to an island and was picked up by a rescue helicopter.

The chief target of the raids near Haiphong was the Uong Bi power plant, 14 miles northeast of the city. It was first hit last December and was said then to produce 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric supply.

American warplanes flew 118 missions against the Communist North Thursday, a spokesman said. Navy planes came from three 7th Fleet carriers—the Oriskany, Constellation and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ground action was generally light in South Viet Nam, except for two flashpoints where continuing American and Vietnamese spoiling sweeps have accounted for 783 Communists killed in the past two weeks.

Viet Cong guerrillas mortared the U.S. Marine command post for Operation Colorado about 30 miles southeast of Da Nang early today, inflicting light casualties and damage, a Marine spokesman said.

Sorry I Said It, Beatle Apologizes

By MARGARET SCHERF

CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm sorry, I'm sorry I said it really. I never meant it as a lousy, anti-religious thing," apologized Beatle John Lennon.

He attempted to explain Thursday night his remarks about Christianity, which set off boycotts and bonfires in the United States.

The main thing, Lennon said, is that he was misunderstood. "I wasn't saying whatever they're saying I was saying," he told a news conference. "I was sort of deploring the attitude toward Christianity."

He added: "From what I've read or observed, it (Christianity) just seems to me to be shrinking, to be losing contact."

Paul McCartney added: "And we all deplore the fact." Lennon said he was "worried to death" about the controversy aroused by his statements that the Beatles "are more popular than Jesus" and that "Christianity will go."

Some U.S. radio stations have banned Beatle records since Lennon's remarks were published in an American teen magazine. Some former fans have built huge bonfires of Beatle records and pictures.

In England, Lennon said, his remarks caused hardly a ripple. "They were just taken as a bit of loudmouth thing," he said.

The long-haired singers arrived Thursday at O'Hare International Airport and were to give two concerts Friday. They were greeted by a relatively small, quiet group of fans.

When their limousine drove up to a hotel, however, things were more normal. There were about 200 screaming, leaping, frantic teenagers swarming all over the car.

Although the news conference was taken up mostly by questions about Lennon's attitude toward Christianity, several other topics also came up.

The quartet was asked if their popularity is slipping.

"We don't feel we're slipping," said McCartney. "Our music's better."

"If we do slip, so what? Who cares?" chimed in George Harrison. "We'll just be where we were before — only a lot richer."
